Welcome to Zurich

24. - 26. OCTOBER 2025

WELCOME

Welcome to Zurich and to this year's National Pharmacy Student Weekend! We're really excited to spend the next few days with you exploring the theme "Pharmacy of the Future."

Together, we will engage in discussions, workshops, and networking opportunities that will inspire us as the next generation of pharmaceutical professionals.

We wish you three exciting days of learning, exchange, and celebration!

OUR GOALS

The National Pharmacy Student Weekend is more than just an event – it's a space to exchange ideas, learn from each other, and imagine the future of our profession. Over the next days, you'll connect with inspiring people, explore new perspectives, and take part in shaping what pharmacy in Switzerland can become.

Shape the Future

Get familiar with current and emerging developments in pharmacy – from digitalization and artificial intelligence to the evolving role of pharmacists in the healthcare system of tomorrow.

Deepen and Expand Knowledge

Discuss relevant topics, gain new perspectives, and receive practical insights into the pharmacy of the future – interactive, inspiring, and interdisciplinary.

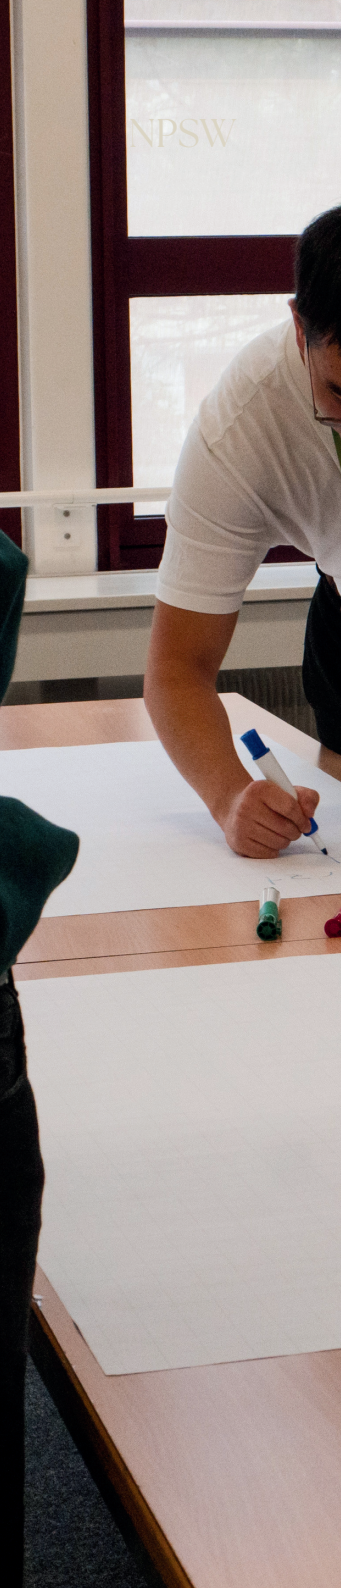

Connection and Networking

NPSW brings together students, companies, and experts. It's all about exchange, valuable contacts, inspiration, and potential career opportunities.

Experience Zurich

Discover the host city – between ETH's iconic buildings, the stunning Uetliberg panorama, and a festive dinner with colleagues and future friends.

SOME DETAILS

PharmaConnect PharmaConnect is our exclusive networking fair, where leading companies and institutions from the pharmaceutical sector present their work and opportunities. Take the chance to connect with potential employers, discover new career paths, and expand your professional network.

Workshops On Saturday afternoon, you'll dive into interactive workshops that explore different aspects of the pharmacy of the future in a hands-on way. From the use of generative AI and the security of supply for sustainable pharmaceutical production to house branding and key figures of the pharmaceutical market. A wide variety of topics awaits you!

You will attend two different workshops:

- Slot 1: 13:00 – 13:45
- Slot 2: 14:00 – 14:45

Social Events Beyond the academic input, NPSW is also about building new friendships across Switzerland. From the welcome apéro to the glamorous dinner and the relaxed Sunday brunch overlooking Zurich, the social program ensures unforgettable memories.

PANEL DISCUSSION

PHARMACY OF THE FUTURE

The healthcare landscape is evolving rapidly. From personalized medicine and digitalization to new regulatory and research challenges. In this panel, experts from academia, industry, and research will explore what these changes mean for the next generation of pharmacists. Together, we will discuss how innovation, technology, and collaboration can shape the pharmacy of the future.

Samuel Allemann

Samuel Allemann is assistant Professor of Pharmaceutical Care at the University of Basel. His research focuses on pharmacogenetics and how personalized medicine can shape the future of pharmacy practice. With a background in both academia and clinical pharmacy, he bridges scientific innovation and applied patient care.

Reto Bazzani

Reto Bazzani represents IQVIA, a global leader in healthcare data analytics and insights. Through the science background, combined with management consulting experience, he offers a data-driven view on how innovation and digitalization can redefine the pharmacy profession.

Christina Ruob

Christina Ruob is a practicing pharmacist and educator. She serves on the executive board of medinform AG, a company that provides e-learning, advanced training, and consulting for pharmaceutical and medical services. In 2025 ETH Zurich appointed her Professor of Practice to teach and mentor future pharmacists.

Rahel Wallimann

Rahel Wallimann is a biotransformation specialist for radioligand therapeutics at Novartis. She graduated from ETH Zurich in 2019 and completed her PhD in 2024. In her research, she combines technical expertise with a strong interest in the future roles of radiopharmaceuticals in diagnostics and therapy.

SPONSORS & PARTNERS

We extend our sincere thanks to all sponsors and partners who make the National Pharmacy Student Weekend 2025 possible.

Your generous support helps us create an inspiring platform for learning, exchange, and connection among pharmacy students across Switzerland. Together, we're shaping the future of pharmacy!
